ARNOLD Schwarzenegger has arrived in Perth for the first time.

The cult action hero and former governor of California breezed past autograph hunters at Perth Airport and was whisked away in a black Audi to Crown Perth.

The 65-year-old is in Australia as a guest for motivational speaker Jamie McIntyre's 21st Century Financial Education Summits.

He will kick off talks at the Perth Convention and Exhibition Centre tonight, followed by events in Melbourne and Sydney.

Schwarzenegger will talk to his audience about his experiences involving bodybuilding, investing, acting and politics.

Guests paid up to $995 to hear him speak and 16 West Australians have shelled out $10,000 each to dine with Schwarzenegger following his appearance at the Perth Convention and Exhibition Centre.

West Coast Eagle Nic Naitanui is an invited guest at the dinner.

"Arnold embodies everything that the Financial Education Summit is all about," CEO of 21st Century Education, Jamie McIntyre said.

"He is motivated, inspirational, an achiever against all odds."

The last time the former Californian governor was in Australia was in 1980 when he won the title of Mr Olympia at the Sydney Opera House.

Fan Manuela Sultana, 38, was starstruck after seeing him at the airport.

"I couldn't speak. My body just went to jelly. I would gladly be one of his mistresses. If he's single, I'm available," she said.

Schwarzenegger requested an exercise bike in his room at Crown Perth.
